PENTECOST SUNDAY

The story of the first Christian Pentecost began in fear and ended in joy. Or, more accurately, Pentecost has not ended yet. For today, we live in the time of this powerful Spirit. On that first day, the disciples crowded together in an out-of-the-way room, unsure and fearful. It took an unmistakable manifestation of God’s power to shake off fear and replace it with bold proclamation. And so it came to pass. We are told in Acts that the descending Spirit came as a strong wind and rested over the disciples. The second reading tells us that the Spirit generates harmony and unity in the Church. No act of faith can be made, no good work accomplished, no ministry undertaken without the sustaining power of the Holy Spirit. All who are Church are one in the Spirit of unity. The people called to undertake this task and mission are called the Church - that’s us: the faithful of St. Colman.

Thoughts to Reflect on and Share: From Deacon Herb
“Everything that we have is a gift from our Father, but we have to learn to recognize those gifts when they are given. One of the greatest gifts we can give to another is the gift of forgiveness, just as the Father forgives us in His abundant mercy.”

ON MISSION FOR THE CHURCH ALIVE
How the process will work and what’s the sequence

- ◆ April, 2015 - Bishop Zubik announced the initiative in a letter to the faithful of the diocese which was read from the pulpit.
- ◆ May, 2015 - parish based prayer.
- ◆ Parish self-study process and consultation with Clusters/Districts and Vicariates.
- ◆ Recommendations from Vicariates to On Mission Commission for Planning
- ◆ Consultation with Priest Council
- ◆ Bishop Zubik communicates decisions and timeline for implementation.
