PENTECOST SUNDAY

The story of the first Christian Pentecost began in fear and ended in joy. Or, more accurately, Pentecost has not ended yet. For today, we live in the time of this powerful Spirit. On that first day, the disciples crowded together in an out-of-the-way room, unsure and fearful. It took an unmistakable manifestation of God's power to shake off fear and replace it with bold proclamation. And so it came to pass. We are told in Acts that the descending Spirit came as a strong wind and rested over the disciples. The second reading tells us that the Spirit generates harmony and unity in the Church. No act of faith can be made, no good work accomplished, no ministry undertaken without the sustaining power of the Holy Spirit. All who are Church are on in the Spirit of unity. The people called to undertake this task and mission are called to the Church - that's us: the faithful of St. Colman.

PENTECOST SUNDAY

A Family Perspective

Like the disciples in today's gospel, there are times we shut the doors of our hearts to people or events. It's how we create emotional distance. Jesus still comes to us to offer peace in our families and to send us with the Holy Spirit into the world.

June 8, 2014 - Pentecost: Pentecost is the Church Evangelizing! It is through, with and in the Holy Spirit that Christians evangelize. The gifts of the Spirit equip us for the ministry of evangelization. Visit www.churchevangelizing.com to read the pastoral letter, download the audio file of the Bishop reading the letter, access resources and learn about the movement that is The Church Evangelizing!

HOME WITH THE LORD: Your prayers are requested for the repose of the souls of Shirley Murawski, Raymond Pindro and Daniel Craig . May they rest in the peace and joy of the Lord.
